five-master Louis in port, surely Honolulu harbor is worth a visit. The American tern W. S. Bowne, originally built for the Hawaiian sugar trade, and which recently went ashore on the Japan coast, has been condemned and sold at Hakodate. It was only a few years ago, when in command of Captain W. Bluhm, she grounded near the entrance of the harbor. The tug Eleu went out and pulled her off from her unfortunate position.

Captain T. Thompson of the bark S. C. Allen says that his departure for San Francisco will be delayed longer than he expected, owing to the slowness of the coming in of sugar for his vessel. Captain Thompson has made a great many trips to this port in the bark C. O. Whitmore, and latterly as master of the bark S. C. Allen. During all these years he has found Hono-lulu a pleasant city to be in, and nothing heretolore has happened to mar the happi-ness of his visits. But, owing perhaps to the recent affair, Captain Thompson has determined never to come here again; so at his departure, he will give his parting farewell to fair Honolulu harbor. His many friends hope that when he arrives at San Francisco he will change his mind, for really Honolulu cannot afford to miss the bark S. C. Allen-one of the finest vessels in the Hawaiian trade—even for a brief period. So, please think again, Cap-
